1. In recent years the environmental problems have become extremely urgent and received a great publicity. In some way they are the result of scientific and technological progress of the 20th century. But people also do a lot of harm to nature because they don't understand that the man is the part of environment. The relationship between man and nature has become one of the most important problems facing civilization today. Do you agree that pollution of water and air is one of the most important problems the civilization is facing today?

Explain your point of view: why do people do a lot of harm to nature?

2. Before setting off for India, we agonized long and hard over the best way to travel. Chris, my traveling companion, suggested we fly direct (at bucket shop prices of course!) and then backpack across the country. Backpacking appealed to me, but not flying. I was dying to travel overland across Europe and Asia and experience the sights, smells and sounds of each different country. Hitch-hiking was a seductive idea but it was also potentially risky. So, what form of transport would offer us flexibility and adventure without risk? Coach travel was unappealing. In the end, there was only one option. We took the train. Did the trip meet our expectations? You bet it did! There is something incredibly exciting about boarding a night train and walking up in a different country.

Which way of transportation did the travellers choose?

3. Time and again, the so-called problem of «fathers and children» is raised in the media and other sources. Today, this problem is becoming more urgent than it was before. The problem of generations has existed throughout the history of human existence. Conflict can arise in all areas of our lives: in society, in social institutions, and in families. The grounds for such conflicts lie in the social expectations that children and parents have.

What do you think is one of the important causes of family conflicts?

4. Identifying and clarifying one's values helps a person to understand himself and make the right choice. When a person neglects his values, he is not able to be himself. When he lives according to them, he remains true to himself, and this gives him a sense of inner rightness.

How to define your values:

5. In today's society, where many people face problems such as divorce, domestic violence and financial difficulties, it is «this» that becomes even more important. They help families overcome difficulties and maintain harmony and stability. The family is the foundation of society, and «it» plays an important role in shaping a healthy and harmonious society. «It» also contributes to the formation of a healthy society. When every family adheres to the principles of love, trust, respect and responsibility, this affects society as a whole.

What do you think is meant by the words «this» and «it»? Select the appropriate value.

6. Which do you agree with most

Determine when it can be assumed that students consider foreign language communicative competence as a factor that increases the value of personal linguistic capital.

10. What do you think is the general opinion of Friedman and Trump?

11. Answer the question after the passage

«Now, Therefore THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY proclaims THIS UNIVERSAL DECLARATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS as a common standard of achievement for all peoples and all nations, to the end that every individual and every organ of society, keeping this Declaration constantly in mind, shall strive by teaching and education to promote respect for these rights and freedoms and by progressive measures, national and international, to secure their universal and effective recognition and observance, both among the peoples of Member States themselves and among the peoples of territories under their jurisdiction.»
—United Nations, «Preamble to the Universal Declaration of Human Rights» (1945)

Why is the first passage significant in representing a turning point in modern world history?

12. Which of the theses you agree with most?

Intercultural communication is basically the way that one person from a particular country would communicate with someone from the other one. around 2000 came Globalization 3.0, in which the world went from being small to tiny. There's a difference between being able to make long distance phone calls cheaper on the Internet and walking around Riyadh with a PDA (personal digital assistant) where you can have all of Google in your pocket. It's a difference in degree that's so enormous it becomes a difference in kind. For UPS to work, they've got to create systems with customs offices around the world. They've got to design supply chain algorithms so when you take that box to the UPS Store, it gets from that store to its hub and then out. Everything they are doing is taking fat out of the system at every joint.»

What does Friedman mean when he states «the world went from being small to tiny»?

208. Answer the question under the passage

«Now, Therefore THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY proclaims THIS UNIVERSAL DECLARATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS as a common standard of achievement for all peoples and all nations, to the end that every individual and every organ of society, keeping this Declaration constantly in mind, shall strive by teaching and education to promote respect for these rights and freedoms and by progressive measures, national and international, to secure their universal and effective recognition and observance, both among the peoples of Member States themselves and among the peoples of territories under their jurisdiction.»

—United Nations, «Preamble to the Universal Declaration of Human Rights» (1945)

influenced by global changes in society.

What do you think has become one of the biggest changes in society today?

217. In today's society, where many people face problems such as divorce, domestic violence and financial difficulties, it is this that becomes even more important. They help families overcome difficulties and maintain harmony and stability. The family is the foundation of society, and it play(s) an important role in shaping a healthy and harmonious society. It also contribute(s) to the formation of a healthy society. When every family adheres to the principles of love, trust, respect and responsibility, this affects society as a whole.

220. Answer the question after the passage

Identifying and clarifying one's values helps a person to understand himself and make the right choice. When a person neglects his values, he is not able to be himself. When he lives according to them, he remains true to himself, and this gives him a sense of inner rightness.

How to define your values:

221. A manager with an entrepreneurial mindset looks at the world through the prism of economics: how to benefit from the situation and minimize costs. This is what distinguishes him from an ordinary person. If an employee, wanting to earn more money, is looking for a high-paying job, then a person who thinks like an entrepreneur will reduce business costs and look for new directions for growth.

What do you think an entrepreneurial mindset is?

222. Fill in the gaps different generations due to differences in interests and conditions, the opposition of their political views, values, belonging to different subcultures.

What do you think will be the most serious level of social conflict?

228. Time and again, the so-called problem of «fathers and children» is raised in the media and other sources. Today, this problem is becoming more urgent than it was before. The problem of generations has existed throughout the history of human existence. Conflict can arise in all areas of our lives: in society, in social institutions, and in families. The grounds for such conflicts lie in the social expectations that children and parents have. Generational conflicts have been studied by authors such as S. Minuchin, M. Bowen, K. Whitaker, V. Satyr.

What do you think is one of the important causes of family conflicts?

236. Choose an answer for the question after the passage

Before setting off for India, we agonized long and hard over the best way to travel. Chris, my traveling companion, suggested we fly direct (at bucket shop prices of course!) and then backpack across the country. Backpacking appealed to me, but not flying. I was dying to travel overland across Europe and Asia and experience the sights, smells and sounds of each different country. Hitch-hiking was a seductive idea but it was also potentially risky. So, what form of transport would offer us flexibility and adventure without risk? Coach travel was unappealing. In the end, there was only one option left. We took the train. Did the trip meet our expectations? It did! There is something incredibly exciting about boarding a night train and waking up in a different country.

Which way of transportation did the travellers choose?

237. We rattled through valleys and over mountains, peering through grimy windows at the stunning scenery. We visited ruins steeped in history and bustling modern cities. And we had adventures galore. In Italy, we fell in with some locals who were celebrating a village festival. We partied for hours and, when everyone had gone home, we camped out under the stars. In Russia we were visiting the Kremlin! We became impervious to the vicissitudes of train travel. Roasting in sweltering compartments by day and shivering in unheated carriages by night all seemed part of the adventure. We learnt to cope with the vagaries of foreign timetables and became adept at communicating by means of hand signals. By the time we reached India, we were already seasoned travelers.

What have the travellers learned?

238. Match the terms and their definitions

239. Arrange the words in the correct order to make a sentence

240. Find a suitable word

As a rule, it is more common to hear about hygiene in a physical sense — as about maintaining a clean body. However, in the field of data exchange, a kind of cleanliness is also important. For thousands of years, people have been passing on the traditions of personal hygiene to each other, and today there are almost no questions about how to take care of their health. The situation is different with hygiene in the online space. Humanity has been mastering the World Wide Web for a little over fifty years and is still at the level of a child who still needs to learn cleanliness in the digital space. Digital hygiene is not just a fashionable phrase, it is a/an [...], which includes a set of measures and rules aimed at ensuring safety and maintaining health in the Internet space

241. Answer the question after the paragraph

On March 18, 2023, the first digital clean—up day was held in Russia, the purpose of which is to draw the attention of users of the Internet to the problem of digital garbage. Another aim was to convince them to get rid of unnecessary files on smartphones, laptops or cloud storage.

Do you think that abandoning digital garbage will help reduce the negative impact on the environment?
